INTERIM MANAGEMENT REPORT OF FUND PERFORMANCE | For the Period Ended September 30, 2022

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

November 14, 2022

This Management Discussion of Fund Performance presents the portfolio management team's view on the significant factors and developments that have affected the Fund's performance and outlook in the six-month period ended September 30, 2022 (the "period"). If the Fund was established during the period, "period" represents the period since inception.

In this report, "IGIM" and "the Manager" refer to I.G. Investment Management, Ltd., the manager of the Fund. In addition, net asset value ("NAV") refers to the value of the Fund as calculated for transaction purposes, on which the discussion of Fund performance is based.

Please read A Note on Forward-Looking Statements on the first page of this document.

Results of Operations

Investment Performance

In accordance with National Instrument 81-106, the following comparison to one or more market indices has been included to help you understand the Fund's performance relative to the general performance of the markets. However, the portfolio management team cautions that the Fund's mandate may be different from the index or indices shown. Also, it is important to note that investors cannot invest in an index. Indirect investments in an index are available; however, there are fees and transaction costs and other variables that will impact returns when investing in these products. Index returns included in the comparison below do not reflect these costs and variables. In addition, unlike the index, this Fund may be subject to valuation adjustments as outlined in the Fund's valuation policies as it relates to non-North American equities held either directly or indirectly by the Fund. A fair value adjustment can either positively or negatively impact the Fund's rate of return.

For the returns of all series and for longer-term performance of the Fund, see the Past Performance section of this report. Performance will vary by series primarily because fees and expenses may differ between series, or because securities of a series were not issued and outstanding for the entire reporting period. See Series Information for the annual expense rates for each series.

For the six-month period ended September 30, 2022, the Series F (formerly Series U) securities returned -20.8% (after deducting fees and expenses paid by the Fund). In comparison, the Fund's broad-based index, the MSCI Europe (Net) Index, returned -15.0% and the Fund's narrow index, the MSCI Europe Mid-Cap (Net) Index, returned -21.6%. Given the Fund's mandate, the narrow index has been included as a more meaningful comparison.

European equities declined over the period. Inflation rose to a multi-decade high as Russia's invasion of Ukraine significantly curtailed energy supplies and pushed prices up. European bond yields rose substantially. The European Central Bank raised its policy rate in an attempt to constrain surging inflation. Tax reductions announced by the United Kingdom's new prime minister late in September caused the British pound and the U.K. stock market to fall and U.K. bond yields to rise significantly.

Within the MSCI Europe (Net) Index, Portugal, Finland and the United Kingdom were the strongest-performing markets in Canadian dollar terms, while Austria, Germany and Sweden were the weakest. The energy, consumer staples and health care sectors were the strongest performers, while real estate, information technology and materials were the weakest.

European mid-capitalization stocks generally underperformed large-capitalization stocks. Within the MSCI Europe Mid Cap (Net) Index, Spain, Belgium and Finland were the strongest-performing markets in Canadian dollar terms, while Ireland, Norway and Austria were the weakest. The energy, consumer staples and communication services sectors were the strongest performers, while real estate, consumer discretionary and utilities were the weakest.

The Fund underperformed the broad-based index because of its focus on mid-cap stocks, which underperformed large-cap stocks in the period.

The Fund outperformed the narrow index, with stock selection in Germany and Finland contributing to performance. Stock selection in the utilities sector and underweight exposure to the real estate sector contributed to performance.

Stock selection in Belgium and the United Kingdom detracted from performance relative to the narrow index. Stock selection in the industrials and consumer discretionary sectors detracted from performance.

Net Assets

The Fund's net assets decreased by 21.3% during the period to $119.1 million. This change was composed primarily of $31.5 million in net losses (including any interest and/or dividend income) from investment performance, after deducting fees and expenses, and a decrease of $0.7 million due to net securityholder activity (including sales, redemptions and cash distributions).

Fees and Expenses

The annualized management expense ratio ("MER") for each series during the period ended September 30, 2022, was generally similar to the MER for the year ended March 31, 2022. Total expenses paid vary from period to period mainly as a result of changes in average assets in each series. The MERs for all series are presented in the Financial Highlights section of this report.

Recent Developments

The portfolio management team believes that the major factors affecting equity markets into 2023 will be the degree to which tightening actions taken by major central banks ease inflationary pressures without materially slowing growth in real gross domestic product. The team believes there is a real risk that the U.S. Federal Reserve could tighten monetary policy too rapidly.

In Europe, while governments are shouldering some of the burden of higher energy prices through deficit spending, the team expects lower consumer spending. In addition, consumer demand and industrial production in China, one of Europe's largest trading partners, has been depressed by its "zero COVID-19" policy, which also has implications for global growth given the scale of the Chinese economy.

At period-end, the Fund was defensively positioned for an environment of higher interest rates and lower economic growth, with overweight exposure to the health care, information technology and energy sectors and underweight exposure to the industrials, consumer discretionary and materials sectors.

Related Party Transactions

(1) These calculations are prescribed by securities regulations and are not intended to be a reconciliation between opening and closing net assets per security. This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements and audited annual financial statements. The net assets per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value per security calculated for fund pricing purposes. An explanation of these differences, if any, can be found in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(2) Net assets and dividends are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period.

(3) Dividends were paid in cash, reinvested in additional securities of the Fund, or both.

- (1) This information is provided as at the end of the fiscal period shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, income taxes and withholding taxes, for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period, except as noted. In the period a series is established, the MER is annualized from the date of inception to the end of the period. Where the Fund directly invests in securities of another fund (including exchange-traded funds or "ETFs"), the MERs presented for the Fund include the portion of MERs of the other fund(s) attributable to this investment. Any income distributions received from ETFs managed by affiliates of the Manager, with the intention of offsetting fees paid within those ETFs but which are not considered to be duplicative fees under regulatory requirements, are treated as waived expenses for MER purposes. The Manager may waive or absorb operating expenses at its discretion and stop waiving or absorbing such expenses at any time without notice.
- (3) The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs incurred as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period. Where the Fund invests in securities of another fund (including ETFs), the TERs presented for the Fund include the portion of TERs of the other fund(s) attributable to this investment.
- (4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not provided when the Fund is less than one year old. The value of any trades to realign the Fund's portfolio after a fund merger, if any, is excluded from the portfolio turnover rate.

Management Fees

The Fund pays a management fee, and this fee, paid by each series, is calculated as a percentage of the net asset value of the series at the close of each business day (see Series Information for rates payable by each series). Generally, management fees pay the costs incurred to provide investment advisory and management services, as well as distribution-related services provided by the Distributors.

However, in the case of Series F, securityholders pay the Distributor an advisory fee (separate from the management fee) directly. Therefore, the management fee in that series is used for investment advisory and management services only.

For all other retail series (i.e. those that exclude Series R, P and S, if issued), approximately 66% of management fees paid during the period was used for investment advisory and management services, and approximately 34% related to distribution-related services. This may vary by series.
