INTERIM MANAGEMENT REPORT OF FUND PERFORMANCE | For the Period Ended September 30, 2022

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

November 14, 2022

This Management Discussion of Fund Performance presents the portfolio management team's view on the significant factors and developments that have affected the Fund's performance and outlook in the six-month period ended September 30, 2022 (the "period"). If the Fund was established during the period, "period" represents the period since inception.

In this report, "IGIM" and "the Manager" refer to I.G. Investment Management, Ltd., the manager of the Fund. In addition, net asset value ("NAV") refers to the value of the Fund as calculated for transaction purposes, on which the discussion of Fund performance is based.

Please read A Note on Forward-Looking Statements on the first page of this document.

Results of Operations

Investment Performance

In accordance with National Instrument 81-106, the following comparison to one or more market indices has been included to help you understand the Fund's performance relative to the general performance of the markets. However, the portfolio management team cautions that the Fund's mandate may be different from the index or indices shown. Also, it is important to note that investors cannot invest in an index. Indirect investments in an index are available; however, there are fees and transaction costs and other variables that will impact returns when investing in these products. Index returns included in the comparison below do not reflect these costs and variables. In addition, unlike the index, this Fund may be subject to valuation adjustments as outlined in the Fund's valuation policies as it relates to non-North American equities held either directly or indirectly by the Fund. A fair value adjustment can either positively or negatively impact the Fund's rate of return.

For the returns of all series and for longer-term performance of the Fund, see the Past Performance section of this report. Performance will vary by series primarily because fees and expenses may differ between series, or because securities of a series were not issued and outstanding for the entire reporting period. See Series Information for the annual expense rates for each series.

For the six-month period ended September 30, 2022, the Series F (formerly Series U) securities returned -32.0% (after deducting fees and expenses paid by the Fund). In comparison, the Fund's broad-based index, the MSCI World (Net) Index, returned -13.0% and the Fund's narrow index, the S&P/TSX Global Gold Index, returned -29.7%. Given the Fund's mandate, the narrow index has been included as a more meaningful comparison.

A stronger U.S. dollar and high inflation contributed to economic weakness across many global economies over the period. European economies also faced energy supply concerns and an increasing cost of living, while China's growth slowed in response to its ongoing "zero COVID-19" policy. The U.S. economy was relatively stronger but also showed signs of slowing. Moderating economic indicators and expectations of higher interest rates put downward pressure on equity markets.

Within the MSCI World (Net) Index, Portugal, Finland and Hong Kong were the strongest-performing markets in Canadian dollar terms, while Austria, Germany and Sweden were the weakest. The energy, consumer staples and health care sectors were the strongest performers, while communication services, information technology and materials were the weakest.

Despite persistently high inflation, the price of gold ended the period with a decline of almost 8% in Canadian dollar terms as many global central banks resolved to bring inflation under control by raising policy rates. Most of these central banks indicated that more rate increases should be expected. In addition, the U.S. dollar was strong relative to most other major currencies, which is generally not supportive of gold prices.

The Fund underperformed the broad-based index because of its focus on the gold sub-industry, which underperformed the broader market in the period.

The Fund underperformed the narrow index, with stock selection in the gold sub-industry and holdings in the copper sub-industry detracting from performance. In country terms, stock selection in Canada and holdings in Australia detracted from performance. The Fund held call options on the price of gold, which is an efficient way to gain exposure to the commodity. These options detracted from performance as the price of gold fell during the period.

Conversely, holdings in the silver sub-industry contributed to performance relative to the narrow index, as did underweight exposure to the United States.

Net Assets

The Fund's net assets decreased by 31.4% during the period to $102.7 million. This change was composed primarily of $48.5 million in net losses (including any interest and/or dividend income) from investment performance, after deducting fees and expenses, and an increase of $1.4 million due to net securityholder activity (including sales, redemptions and cash distributions).

Fees and Expenses

The annualized management expense ratio ("MER") for each series during the period ended September 30, 2022, was lower than the MER for the year ended March 31, 2022, due to a decrease in the management fee rates effective June 28, 2022, as noted in the Series Information section of the report. Total expenses paid vary from period to period mainly as a result of changes in average assets in each series. The MERs for all series are presented in the Financial Highlights section of this report.

Recent Developments

In the portfolio management team's view, inflation will likely remain elevated due to deglobalization, the transition away from fossil fuels and a tight labour market caused by aging workers and the pandemic. Neither the U.S. Federal Reserve nor financial market participants have experienced higher-than-expected inflation for many decades, which raises the possibility of policy error and substantial market volatility. If the Federal Reserve's interest rate increases are too late or finish before inflation is tamed, the team believes this would be positive for gold and other hard assets. If the Federal Reserve tightens monetary conditions too much, it could prematurely terminate the economic cycle, in which case gold would be sought after as a safe-haven asset.

Gold offers an attractive alternative for Canadian investors who have reached their maximum allocation to equities, are reluctant to hold low-yielding bonds or are concerned about the consequences of excessive monetary supply, deglobalization and rising geopolitical risks.

Other Developments

Effective June 28, 2022, the annual management fee rates for Series A, B, F (formerly U), J DSC and J NL decreased by 0.05%.

- (1) This information is provided as at the end of the fiscal period shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, income taxes and withholding taxes, for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period, except as noted. In the period a series is established, the MER is annualized from the date of inception to the end of the period. Where the Fund directly invests in securities of another fund (including exchange-traded funds or "ETFs"), the MERs presented for the Fund include the portion of MERs of the other fund(s) attributable to this investment. Any income distributions received from ETFs managed by affiliates of the Manager, with the intention of offsetting fees paid within those ETFs but which are not considered to be duplicative fees under regulatory requirements, are treated as waived expenses for MER purposes. The Manager may waive or absorb operating expenses at its discretion and stop waiving or absorbing such expenses at any time without notice.
- (3) The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs incurred as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period. Where the Fund invests in securities of another fund (including ETFs), the TERs presented for the Fund include the portion of TERs of the other fund(s) attributable to this investment.
- (4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not provided when the Fund is less than one year old. The value of any trades to realign the Fund's portfolio after a fund merger, if any, is excluded from the portfolio turnover rate.

Management Fees

The Fund pays a management fee, and this fee, paid by each series, is calculated as a percentage of the net asset value of the series at the close of each business day (see Series Information for rates payable by each series). Generally, management fees pay the costs incurred to provide investment advisory and management services, as well as distribution-related services provided by the Distributors.

However, in the case of Series F, securityholders pay the Distributor an advisory fee (separate from the management fee) directly. Therefore, the management fee in that series is used for investment advisory and management services only.

For all other retail series (i.e. those that exclude Series R, P and S, if issued), approximately 66% of management fees paid during the period was used for investment advisory and management services, and approximately 34% related to distribution-related services. This may vary by series.
