

Fund name changes: New brand name, greater clarity

As part of our new brand name – IG Wealth Management – and to help you understand what fund(s) are right for your financial goals, several fund names will be changing.

Please note that no changes will be made to the funds' fees, investment objectives or strategies – only the names will change. No action is required on your part.

The following is a list of portfolio fund name changes, which are expected to be effective on or around November 1, 2018. If you are a holder of one or more of these funds, you may notice the new names on your IG Wealth Management statement, starting in November.
